

650 E. Hospitality Lane Suite 300 San Bernardino CA 92408

Hello Tricia,

You recently visited my website to check up on your homes current market value. You may have had my website generate an instant report from local MLS data, that's great but it is still just another algorithm generated report, just like Zillow.

Knowing that you wanted this important information about your home I decided to print out a more comprehensive report and just deliver it directly. I have reviewed the current market directly around your home and it is reflected in the report you have here.

If you have questions about current market conditions or are thinking of selling your home, I would be happy to offer you professional service. I look forward to working with you. (If you are already under contract with an agent to sell please disregard this as a solicitation)

Sincerely,

Eric Elsholtz
